WWII TCG has a cross-platform multiplayer online mode where you can fight against other players on the battlefield . The Game has, also a single player mode consists of 190 WW2 missions starting as a soldier and progressing through different battlefields and distributed in 19 campaigns based on historical military events from World War II . There are three major types of cards in World War II TCG - Units, Items and Orders . Every card is based on historical World War 2 units and weapons (e.g.: Japanese A6M Zero plane, Fighting First Division, Tiger...)

The resource system is different from other card games, and can be similar to a wargame, you have 3 action points that you can use to play cards. This mechanic gives a wargame atmosphere and creates different layers of strategy where you have plenty options from turn one.

One of the mechanics of WWII TCG is promoting units. You can use your resources to promote
